RATIONALE OF THE SEMINAR

Globalization has affected all areas of life in the period of systematic transformation. India has opened itself to the world, to accelerate itself not only in the field of technical innovation and economic solutions but also in bringing new ideas, values and behavioral patterns. The values and moral dilemma discussions, situations, grapple with decision-making and assess implications of decisions on one's life. Most of us learn these skills through life experiences, observations and actions from another person's perspective. These "what if" situations are mostly designed to ease this learning process for human beings and to encourage their moral growth. The rationale behind this seminar is to widen our horizons by keeping ourselves abreast with the global world and by integrating the treasure of moral values for which India is known for.
